SOME QUERIES IN DOSES.

Mr. Cleveland is doing a good deal of talking in these quiet days, free from the excitement of a national campaign, and he is trying to make people believe that in the time of peace one should prepare for a political campaign, and he is setting his pen for 1892 by making speeches on the tariff question and booming himself as a great tariff reformer. This is Mr. Cleveland's right, but he should be careful about entanglements, and statements that are hostile to each other. The other day the Gazette did Mr. Cleveland the kindness to publish some of his utterances just as he gave them. Their querulousness made them interesting. They pleased republicans and bothered democrats.

In his Baltimore talk on tariff reform Mr. Cleveland made the statement that his party made a mistake in sending out tariff reform documents, in this respect that the leaders gave tradesmen what the farmers should read, and farmer what tradesmen should read. While Mr. Cleveland is right on a general proposition of this kind it would seem to be a straightforward tariff reformer that Mr. Cleveland himself has much of the responsibility to bear in mixing things up on the tariff question. Some times his statements would seem to be all in pieces. For instance, "he tells the farmers how free trade will lower the price of wool and enable him to buy cheap clothing." Then he tells the Baltimore reform club how the democrats' "propose" in '92 to overthrow the tariff and extend the markets so that the farmer can get a bigger price for his wool than he ever got before." The farmer will be much perplexed to do with two statements to that they will dwell together in unity and smile with consistency!

But this is not the end of the trouble with Mr. Cleveland's peculiar methods of dealing with tariff reform. When the remarks of the ex-president get mixed up and those he intends for the wool-growers fall into the hands of the workmen, then there is more trouble. Just how the wool-grower is going to get a high price for his wool under free trade, and the workman a cheaper price for his clothing because of cheaper wool, is a proposition that stuns a thinking man and drives the wit out of his head.

The remedy Mr. Cleveland now suggests as a cure for these curious statements, is this: To send to the wool-growers a document, saying that free trade will increase the price of wool and give them a big market. Then to the workmen another document which teaches that free trade will lessen the price of wool and make clothing cheaper. Then he warns the democrats not to get these documents mixed as they get mixed in '88, and proved disastrous. He doesn't want his drinks mixed, nor his campaign documents. There is sense in this, for a doctor cannot give to the same patient two doses—one to settle the stomach and the other to turn it inside out without producing trouble. (Mr. Cleveland clearly sees that this kind of tariff medicine won't do. It causes too much mischief among the democratic tariff doctors.)

ARE PUBLIC BENEFACATORS ROBBERIES?

The Indianapolis News, commenting upon Mr. Carnegie's gift of $1,000,000 to the Pittsburgh library and the possible increase thereof to $2,000,000, takes occasion to say that no such sums can be earned honestly by one man, and then follows a homily concerning "the robber tariff."—Inter-Ocean.

The Indianapolis News seems to be afflicted with the same merciless spirit that troubles the Milwaukee News, the Christian Union, the Pittsburgh Commonwealth, and several other journals of the socialist class.

If Andrew Carnegie is to be condemned for becoming rich, the same condemnation will apply to all the millionaires of the country, many of whom have made their riches contribute to the good of the people. Will these papers which scorch the labor agitators on their backs when they howl against the magnificent benefactions of the rich condemn George Peabody for his five millions to charity and education? Will they pronounce harsh judgment against Peter Cooper, the workman's friend, the founder of the Cooper Union, because like Andrew Carnegie he made his millions from manufacturing? Will they call John Oler, the millionaire of Chicago, a robber, who gave so much of his wealth for the public good in the line of education? Will they apply their ungenerous attacks to Matthew Vassar who made a fortune by his industry and enterprise in brewing, and then donated the establishment of Vassar college? Will they hurl these maledictions at such men as John Hopkins, the founder of the college bearing his name; Dr. Pearson who befriended Belmont college; the Vanderbilts who established the university at Nashville; and at Girard who gave more than one fortune to education and to charity?

Extra Cornell made millions out of land speculations and other investments, and then founded the great university which bears his name and handsomely endowed it, and he is to be criticised because he made his fortune in that way?

All these men made their money as Andrew Carnegie made his—by industry, economy, sobriety, and sound judgment in business. The popular heart of this country goes out for these benefactors. Those of them who are dead are millionaires of blessed memory, because they have left behind them monuments that will long endure and will be honored by the grateful people of this country.

It states as a logical consequence, that if Andrew Carnegie is to be condemned for becoming rich, no other man can escape the same condemnation. To sympathize with the howls of the rattle-brained labor agitators of Pittsburgh because a rich man is to build a magnificent public library, is to denounce an accumulation of riches, no matter how honestly they are obtained.

Let our white people stick together in conservative unity of sentiment and thought, and all will be well. The time will come when it will be true to each other the swing of the pendulum will take the republicans to the farther side.—Orfordville (Miss.) Eagle.

It seems that the white people are already sticking together in conservative unity of sentiment in Mississippi, for in 1888 in Covington county, there were only 4 republican votes, in Clatsone only 14 in Leflore only 7, in Lawrence only 2, and in Oxford where the Eagle is published, there were 487 republican votes against 170 democratic. It will be difficult to find an instance of democrats sticking together with more conservative unity than is now seen in Mississippi.

The prohibitionists know they are not getting prohibition in the state of Kansas, so they have a law to allow local option, permit localities as could enforce prohibition to have it. If a dozen men were drowning would they refuse to help save the whole dozen?—Inter-Ocean.

That seems to be the policy of the third party. If they can't wipe out all the saloons at once, they won't wipe out any. If they can't dictate the temperance policy of the state or the country, they won't favor any other. With the third party it is rule or ruin. If that same spirit was carried out in the work of evangelizing the world, there would be no need of churches, for there would be no evangelical work done.

That timely work is nowhere more dangerous than in the construction of reservoirs has been once more demonstrated by the breaking of a dam in Arizona, and the destruction of several lives. The explanation is, as usual, that the dam was improperly built. At a time when the advocates of great schemes of irrigation are appealing to the country in favor of enormous water-basins, wherein overflow of mountain streams can be held for use in the irrigating season, this incident will produce a bad impression.

For the first time in history the Pope has conferred a pontifical decoration on a monarch who does not belong to the Christian faith. The Holy Father has presented to the Shah the Order of Pius IX and has forwarded to him the insignia together with an autograph letter in which he thanks Nasr-ed-Daen for the protection and liberty accorded to the Catholics in Persia.

A writer in The Boston Herald asks: "Is this hurrying, hurrying, busy, busy, rushing existence we lead in America idealistic in the smallest particular?" No, sonny, it isn't "idealistic" whatever that may be, but it gets it just the same. Better stop asking questions and join the procession.

The New York Tribune: Fairs may come and fairs may go, but the glory of the city of New York under the worst municipal government ever instituted among men goes on forever.

Visit from Old Settlers: The Broadhead Institute.—News Items.

The tobacco crop is being sold rapidly this year. Who has hired the tobacco warehouse? Let some one hire it that means business, and let it be occupied. It would be a blessing to the town, as well as to many who have no work to do, and also to the tobacco growing district.

A Mrs. Brown, who lived in a house owned by Deaner, near the town of Newark, died suddenly on Sunday. Though an inquest was found in the house. An inquest was held Tuesday.

Orfordville was well represented at the funeral of the late Brothhead Thursday and Friday. Your note had also the chance of attending the first institute of that kind in his life. Gov. Hoard was present the first day, and spoke twice. We made up mind from his talk, that he understood everything about the breeding and raising of cattle. Who would dream, a few years ago, that the governor of the state would talk to the farmers about their dairy products, and how to raise and handle cattle to their best advantage. That is good; we want an executive that keeps an open eye for the farmers and their interests, and one who knows something else, than politics. What state in the union can boast of better farm governors than Cook and Hoard?

T. J. Tolson, P. A. Goldberg, P. Brekke, of St. Ansgar, Iowa, are visiting friends in this vicinity. They have all lived here, immigrated here from Norway in 1845, left for St. Ansgar in 1834. They report that they see many changes that have taken place during their thirty-six years absence, and many of their old acquaintances have passed away. They are all well-to-do farmers.

Mr. and Mrs. Goldberg and family have been visiting with friends and relatives are going to leave for home Friday.

Change of Location.

You will not have climb down a flight of stairs now to find the barber shop of N. W. Snow. He has removed to No. 169 West Milwaukee street, Dutton's old stand. Mr. Snow is a good barber, and has also put in a line of cigars and smoking articles. Give him a call.

The Virtue of Hot Milk.

It is worthy of reiteration that milk heated to as high a temperature as it can be drunk or stirred, about 160 degrees, but not to the boiling point, is of great value as a refreshing stimulant in cases of over-exertion, bodily or mental. To most people who like milk, it does not taste so good, but that is a small matter compared with the benefit to be got from it. Its action is exceedingly prompt and grateful, and the effects much more satisfactory and far more lasting than those of any alcoholic drink whatever. It supplies real strength as well as exhilaration, something which alcohol never does.

Advice to Mothers.

Miss Watson's Vermorel Rinser should always be used for children's teeth. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain caused by wind colic, and is the best remedy for diarrhea. 25c a bottle.

LINCOLN STILL LIVES.

The Premature Report of His Death—Physicians Say He is Now Rallying.

THE GRANDSON OF THE WAR PRESIDENT EXPIRES AT LAST.

His Parents Overwhelmed with Grief at Their Great Loss—Other Foreign News.

Special to the Gazette.

LONDON, Feb. 27th.—The report of the death of young Abraham Lincoln, announced last night, announcing the death of young Abraham Lincoln was premature. The young man still lives and at 8:30 o'clock this afternoon the attending physicians say he appears to be rallying.

The report sent by cable last evening and published in the morning paper reads:—

LONDON, Feb. 27.—Abraham Lincoln, the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Lincoln, died last night. The parents are utterly prostrated by their overwhelming affliction. Young Lincoln's illness began in November with a carbuncle on the shoulder, and was attended by a school in Versailles, France, and was followed by an abscess that necessitated a surgical operation.

Abraham Lincoln, Mr. Lincoln relied upon the French surgeons at Versailles for this, and soon afterward came to the conclusion that in doing so he had committed a serious error. The lad did not recover from the shock of the operation. Then his father removed him to this city and called in English surgeons of high reputation, who have given the case the closest attention ever since.

The healing of the incisions made in removing the abscess did not occur, and several weeks ago pyemia set in. A week ago hope was practically abandoned, but as a last resort it was determined to again resort to the knife. This second operation was performed last Saturday, and for a day or two there seemed to be some improvement.

The dead boy had many friends in school and among those who visited at the American legation. He was a studious and thoughtful lad, with a special taste for political history and war literature. He was 17 years of age, tall for his years, and with a manly bearing that made him a leader among his schoolmates.

All through his illness young Abraham was attended by his father, who was devotedly attached to him. The blow falls with terrible force upon Mr. and Mrs. Lincoln, who could not relinquish hope while life lasted.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—In the Senate Mr. Chandler presented a petition from Union county, Arkansas, representing that at the State election there in September, 1888, a systematic religious terrorism prevailed; that armed and reckless mobs paraded the county night and day, terrorizing whites and shooting and whipping colored voters; that churches and schools had been demolished and ballot boxes carried off, and asking for the protection guaranteed by the constitution.

Mr. Harris asked Mr. Chandler whether the statement which he was making was such a "brief statement" as the rule contemplated in the presentation of petitions; and added that it was in direct violation of the rule.

Mr. Chandler replied that he understood the rule and how the rule was construed. He was not reading the petition, but was reading from a condensed statement of it, as he could make in justice to the petitioners.

Mr. Harris desired the ruling of the Chair under Rule 7, which provides that every petition or memorial shall have indorsed on it a brief statement of its contents, and shall be presented and referred without debate.

Mr. Berry asked Mr. Chandler whether he had himself prepared the statement he was making or whether somebody else had done so.

Mr. Chandler replied that he had written it himself.

Mr. Berry—I thought so. It is not a petition, but a collection of rot and flimsy which the Senator has collected himself. Mr. Chandler—it is a statement which I make on my own responsibility of the substance of this petition, it was prepared by myself. I do not wish to violate the rules of the Senate. I am only sorry that the Senator from Tennessee should not have taken occasion to comment on the practice of making full statements of petitions on some other petition than one which concerned the rights of citizens.

Mr. Harris again called on the chair for a ruling.

The statement was then completed and the resolution, with several others from Arkansas on the same subject, was referred to the committee on privileges and elections.

The amendment to the Senate bill authorizing the construction of a bridge across the Arkansas river in Indian Territory was concurred in.

The business on the calendar was then taken up and twenty-six petitions were passed; the following public bills: Providing for a steam vessel for the use of the civil government of Alaska, appropriating $50,000 for the vessel and $11,000 for annual expenses; appropriating $100,000 for enlargement of the public building at Topeka, Kan.; to provide for the judicial determination of the controversy between the United States and the State of Texas relating to a certain tract of land by them respectively claimed in Greer county.

The bill to amend the act to prevent the extermination of fur-bearing animals in Alaska was indefinitely postponed.

A 2 o'clock Blair educational bill was taken up as unfinished business. Mr. Ingalls inquired as to the time when the bill was likely to be disposed of, remarking that it stood in the way of many important measures, and giving notice that he would insist that its consideration should proceed with dispatch.

Mr. Reagan addressed the Senate in opposition to the bill. Speaking of Mr. Blair's assertions as to illiteracy and barbarism in the Southern States, Mr. Reagan made a statement to show that, so far as Texas was concerned, that State had done and was doing its full duty in the matter of free common schools. He described the bill as offering a bribe of $75,000,000 to the States if they would consent to accept it as a price for the destruction of the rights of local self-government and as imposing on them the humiliating condition of approving, by an affirmative act of legislation, the policy of the bill.

Mr. Wilson of Maryland also argued against the constitutionality of the bill.

Capt. C. P. Wood's Sudden Call.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, Feb. 27.—Capt. C. P. Wood, 65 years old, of Quincy, Ill., was found dead in bed at the Kobb hotel on Walnut street at 7:30 o'clock this morning. He was head agent for the Raymond Patent Machine company, of New York. The coroner attributes his death to heart failure.

Death of George Saxe

A simple notice in the offerings from Lima a few days since, told the one I have seen of the death of the late Geo. Saxe, of that place. My acquaintance with Mr. Saxe was quite limited, yet he gave me an opportunity of meeting him, and he was a fine singer and leader, and as the children sang, it seemed the very breath of song. Clear, every word distinctly spoken in perfect time. Barely have I seen such training. There is a mysterious Providence in such removals from earth. A life just fitted for seeming usefulness, beloved by all who knew him, with high and noble purposes, is cut down in the very commencement of a brilliant career. ## IN MODERN MEDICINE.

The Proper Treatment of the Mind Has Become an Important Feature.

We contend that at the present time there is and for the last half century there has been existing an altered relation between body and mind, saying the Hospital. The mind—the brain, in short—of the present generation is more generally and intensely active than was the mind of immediately preceding generations. This is the same as saying that the average man of the present generation has more sense and judgment than his grandfather or that the poets or philosophers of the present age are greater than Shakespe-peare or Goethe, than Descartes or Newton. It is only affirming that the average man's mind is much more active and is subjected to much more wear and tear than was the average man's mind of the sixteenth, and seventeenth and eighteenth centuries. It is, therefore, an imperious incumbent upon the practical physician that he constantly study, understand and practice the medication of the mind in consideration of almost every individual case it is as necessary to take into brief the state of the mind as it is to include the condition of the teeth, or the bowels or any other primary organ or function of the body.

Neat Trick of the Dear Girl.

The collection was just beginning.

An old gentleman who sat at the table back from the front of the church handed each of the two girls in his pew a $10 bill. The girls crumpled the bills up in their hands, and when their father handed the plate along two crumpled bills dropped into it. But they were not $10 bills; they were only ones.

"They make $9 off the heathen every Sunday in that way," said the section afterward. "In one hand they hold the crumpled $10 bill, in the other hand they have ready a $1 bill, and that goes into the box. The trick is an old one; I've seen it ever since I've been sixteen here, and it's a little strange to me that the fathers never sought to find it out."

FARNELL VINDICATED.

Sir Charles Russell Speaks for the Irish

Leaders.

LONDON, Feb. 27.—Sir Charles Russell, speaking at Cambridge last evening, declared that Mr. Farnell and his colleagues had been acquitted of every charge affecting their personal political honor; that nothing had been found against them that might not with equal truth be alleged against the mass of the British movement, he said, had accomplished its aims with far less crime than had attached to any previous political agitation of equal importance.

What crime attended it was not the crime of the individuals, but the crime of the organizers, but to the reckless and irresponsible persons who hung like a fringe on every popular movement.

Honoring a German Poet.

MUNICH, Feb. 27.—The festival in honor of the 70th birthday of the celebrated poet, Hermann von Lingg, took place Tuesday night at the Colosseum

Munich and was an immense success.

High honors were paid to the poet, who was present with his family. The leaders of German literature and art were in attendance, and the Prince of Bavi-aria conferred upon the author the

"Die Völkerverwandlung" the Order of the Crown of Bavaria thereby elevating the poet to the rank of a nobleman.

Mr. Balfour's Home-Rule Bill.

LONDON, Feb. 27.—Mr. Balfour is engaged in preparing a bill to give to Ireland a system of local self-government or home rule. His scheme is said to be based upon the idea of treating the Irish as a local government just as the English and the Scotch are treated in regard to the same subject. As any proposition to honestly do this would make the Tories a home-rule party it is not believed that his bill will be more than a pretense and a juggle.

The Cartel Combination's Fall.

BERLIN, Feb. 27.—The vote of the Socialists in the recent election, compared with the election in 1887, shows a gain of 500,000 votes. The gain of the German 1,000,000, compared in the same way, is 224,000. The center party, on the contrary, and the parties included in the Cartel coalition all lost heavily.

The Cartellers have lost a million votes and the center party 200,000 votes.

The Cost of Keeping Up an Army.

BERLIN, Feb. 27.—Statistics are published showing the military expenditure of the great Powers during the last three years. France spent 5,082,000,000 marks; Russia, 3,254,000,000 marks;

Great Britain, 2,475,000,000 marks; Germany, 2,430,000,000 marks; Austria-

Hungary, 1,325,000,000 marks; Italy,

1,264,000,000 marks.

Tortured to Death by Robbers.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Feb. 27.—A band of Albanians made a descent upon the villages of Babrak, Robust, and Babrush, in old Servia, and plundered them.

Many of the inhabitants were tortured to death by the robbers. A battalion of Turkish troops have been dispatched to the scene, but they are powerless against the marauders.

Labor Conference Called in Berlin.

BERLIN, Feb. 27.—The government has sent formal invitations to the powers to send representatives to the labor conference which meets at Berlin on March 15. France has accepted the invitation.

Lord Tennyson Is Better.

LONDON, Feb. 27.—The condition of Lord Tennyson, who is suffering from bronchial catarrh, is much improved.

Dom Pedro Wants to Go Home.

LONDON, Feb. 27.—The News' Paris correspondent says that Dom Pedro is unwilling to dismiss his imperial suite.

He has, therefore, resolved to endeavor to come to terms with the Brazilian Government, to renounce the crown, and to return to Brazil and live as a private person.

FUN FOR MR. COBB.

He Moves That They Lend Him to Conserve

for Associating with Parnellites.

LONDON, Feb. 27.—Mr. Cobb (Radical) gave notice in the House of Commons that in the event of Mr. Smith's motion asking the House to adopt the report of the Parnell commission, with Mr. Lewis' amendment censuring the Parnellites, being carried, he would move a resolution declaring that the House deplors that it appears from the dates in the report of the Parnell commission, and evidence submitted to the commission, that at the time the Parnellites were engaged in the alleged treasonable conspiracies many members of the government, especially Lord Salisbury and other members were in close alliance and treaty with these members [cries of "Oh, oh," and laughter and cheers], and that therefore

Lord Salisbury and the other members of the government deserve the severest condemnation.

Mr. Gourley, Liberal, asked whether the government intended to recommend

Canada to extend the modus vivendi arranged for in the treaty negotiated by Mr. Joseph Chamberlain at Washington until the treaty of 1815 is finally interpreted.

Sir James Ferguson replied that the modus vivendi could only be revived by Canada, which proposed to consider the question during the present session of the Dominion Parliament.

In replying to a question by Mr. Morton

Gladstone, the Rt.-Hon. G. J. Goschen said that he was not aware of any bill being prepared for introduction at the present session of Parliament authorizing the Bank of England or any other bank to issue £1 notes.

Bismarck Will Not Resign.

BERLIN, Feb. 27.—Owing to the favorable result of the recent elections for the German Reichstag, Prince Bismarck has decided to resign his contemplated resignation from office.

Made Another Fast Trip.

QUEENSTOWN, Feb. 27.—The steamship City of Paris from New York, arrived here this morning. Time, 6 days,

14 hours, 54 minutes.
